

THE COMPLETE GUIDE TO SINCLAIR SOFTWARE

If there is such a thing as a comprehensive pocket guide to Sinclair Software – this is it! Sinclair User has compiled this free handbook for its readers to act as a guide through the maze of programs on the market.

The catalogue is slap bang up to date, featuring all the programs for the Spectrum 48K, Spectrum Plus, QL and the new Spectrum 128 which have been reviewed in Sinclair User since the spring of 1984.

Over 600 titles are included.

All the Sinclair User Classics, those games given the highest accolade our editorial team could dream up, are highlighted.

This guide, giving you a star rating for each game, advises what to buy, how much it will cost to do so, and what type of screen activity you have just been flogged.

How have we done it? Skill and monumental talent apart, we have divided the software into the usual divisions of Simulation, Traditional, Practical, Business, and more, have taken the larger groups of Adventure and Arcade games and broken them down into their natural divisions of maze, graphics, text, levels and ladders.

The number of the issue in which each game has been reviewed is also included in the listing, so that further information about each one can easily be accessed. (Back issues are available at a previously unheard of, bargain prices ... ed).

Many of the main software houses with address details are also included at the back – some with potted histories.

But that's enough of all that. Keep this booklet safe; carry it with you wherever you go – safe in the knowledge that when it is not busily imparting invaluable information, it will keep that little patch of your body underneath right-hand back pocket very warm.

ADVENTURE

ADVENTURE GAMES rely on a player's ability to solve problems posed mainly within the framework of fantasy or science fiction plots. You are asked to act out the role of the hero or heroine, taking information from text or graphic descriptions of the locations through which you travel.

Text

Bored of the Rings 5* £5.95
Silversoft 40

High camp satire from teenage cult writer Fergus McNeill. The funniest thing ever put on a Spectrum, Bored leaves Tolkien, adventure games, rock music and the whole Sinclair industry bruised and battered. Ferociously witty, and 100K plus of adventure for your money too.

Confidential 4* £6.95
Radar Games 38

Crystal Quest 5* £0.99
Pocket Money 43

Curse of 7 Faces 3* £8.95
Imperial Software 37

Dead at Controls 2* £6.95
Artic 41

El Dorado 4* £1.99
Atlantis 39

Faerie 3* £1.75
8th Day 35

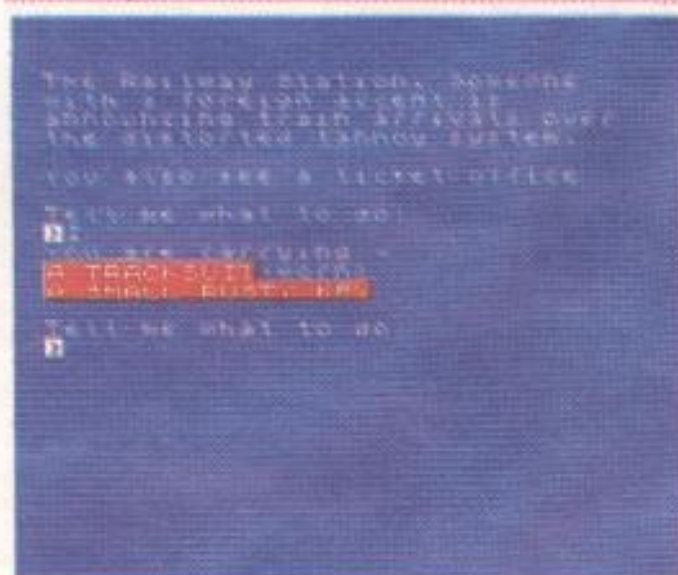

Fantasia Diamond 4* £7.95
Hewson 27

The Final Mission 4* £5.50
Incentive 33

Gremlins 3* £9.95
Adventure Int. 39

Hampstead 5* £9.95
Melbourne House 33

Text-only and shows its age, but still very funny. You start on the dole, your ambition to 'attain' Hampstead by a mixture of social climbing, fraud, and outright theft. Perceptive and witty, it's also tough to beat. Watch out for Justin Perrier and his old Wykehamist tie!

The Helm 4* £2.50
Firebird 41

The Hollow 4* £5.50
Gilsoft 49

Ice Station Zero 3* £1.75
8th Day 34

Jericho Road 4* £5.75

Delta 4		40
Scoop	3*	£2.99
Sentient Software		39
Secrets of St. Brides	5*	£6.95
St Bride's		43

Wacky girls-own adventure from the real-life school in Ireland where the 1930s never ended. Trixie Trinian's delightful progress through the mysterious school captures the atmosphere perfectly.

Se-Kaa of Asslah	2*	£1.99
Mastervision		31
Sherlock	5*	£14.95
Melbourne House		31

A tour-de-force of fiendish difficulty from Hobbit-writer Philip Mitchell. Excellent routines for inputting English sentences, including interrogating suspects. Not only must you solve the crime but also convince bumbling Inspector Lestrade. The story comes close to the skill of Conan Doyle himself, with an authentic Victorian atmosphere.

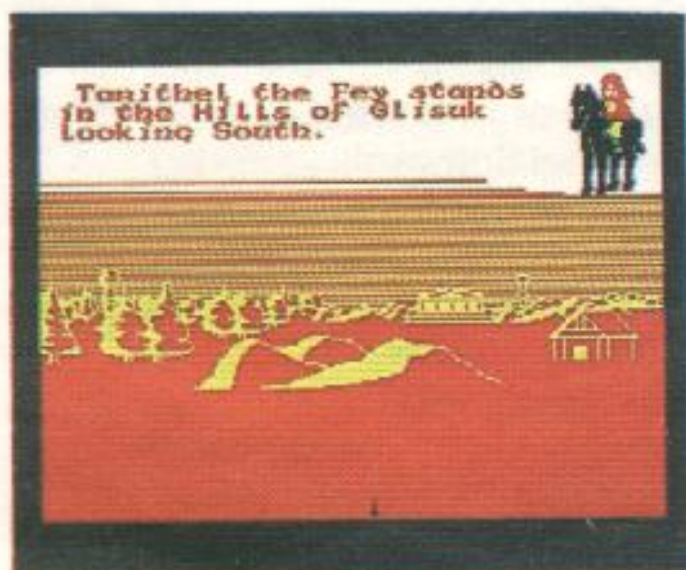

System 15000	5*	£9.95
Craig Communication		32

A hacker's paradise – your Spectrum becomes a terminal to a private business network. The task – to hack your way into the international banking system and restore $2m to your pal's company from under the noses of the Mafia. Total realism, right down to telephone dialling codes. Shamefully neglected by the trade.

Time Sanctuary	2*	£7.95
Lothlorien		48
Timesearch	3*	£3.95
Millenium		42
Underworld	3*	£4.95
Orpheus		38

Black Forest Chateau	4*	£6.95
Creative Sparks		36
Doomdark's Revenge	5*	£6.95
Beyond		41

Massive adventure/strategy sequel to Lords of Midnight. Incredibly complex, with 48,000 possible screens of atmospheric landscape to explore. Form alliances with elves, giants, dwarves, barbarians and icelords as you raise an army fit to defeat the evil Shareth. Just working out who's who and where can become an obsession.

Dun Darach 5* £9.95
Gargoyle 41

Lovingly crafted from strands of Celtic myth, Dun Darach fuses superb animation with complex visual problems to produce a convincingly realistic quest adventure. Subsidiary quests involve you in the life of the enchanted city. A dozen characters help and hinder. Utterly compelling, and a triumph of atmosphere.

Emerald Island 4* £6.95
Level Nine 38

Erik the Viking 2* £9.95
Level Nine 34

Eureka 3* £14.95
Domark 34

Fourth Protocol 5* £12.95
Century/Hutchinson 40

Espionage adventure based on Forsyth bestseller. Commies infiltrate CND, you race to find the traitor and disarm the nuke. Set tails on suspects, cross-reference files, authorise phone taps. Then load side two and race to find the bomb.

Frog Face 4* £5.95
Positive Image 32

Ghoules 4* £7.50
IMS Software 35

Heroes of Karn 3* £5.50
Interceptor 38

Hobbit 5* £14.95

Melbourne House

Jewel of Power 4* £9.50

Slogger Software 39

Jewels of Babylon 2* £5.50

Interceptor 37

Legend 3* £14.95

Century Software 35

Lord of the Rings 5* £14.95

Melbourne House 47

Part one of the trilogy, more accessible than Sherlock and more sophisticated too. Tolkien's great tale is faithfully served by Philip Mitchell, though the plot does not always follow the same route. Control up to four characters at once, but don't be surprised if you find them a handful!

The Magic Sword 3* £8.95

Database Publishing 36

Marsport 5* £9.95

Gargoyle 45

Mindshadow 2* £7.99

Activision 48

Neverending Story 4* £9.95

Ocean 46

Merlock the Mede 1* £5.95

Terminal Software 46

Murder Hunt 4* £2.50

Bodkin Software 48

Peter Pan 3* £9.95

Hodder and Stoughton 33

Phineas Frogg 4* £7.95

Mirrorsoft 42

Quest for Holy Grail 4* £1.99

Mastertronic 46

Red Moon 5* £6.95

Level Nine 42

Classic fantasy adventure from Level Nine. Pete Austin's legendary packing routine ensures lots of text and pictures to go with it. More than a flavour of role-playing, Red Moon offers a believable magic and combat system as well as the usual vicious Austin plot and problems.

Based on the Runequest role-playing scenario.

Extravagant multi-faceted attempt to capture the Frankies' style and energy. Place symbolic arcade games hidden within dull suburban houses. A murder mystery provides adventure elements, but most will choose their favourite arcade number and plug away at that. Technically excellent with window effects and slick designs – a heady brew of pleasure and politics.

Batman	5*	£9.95
Ocean		50

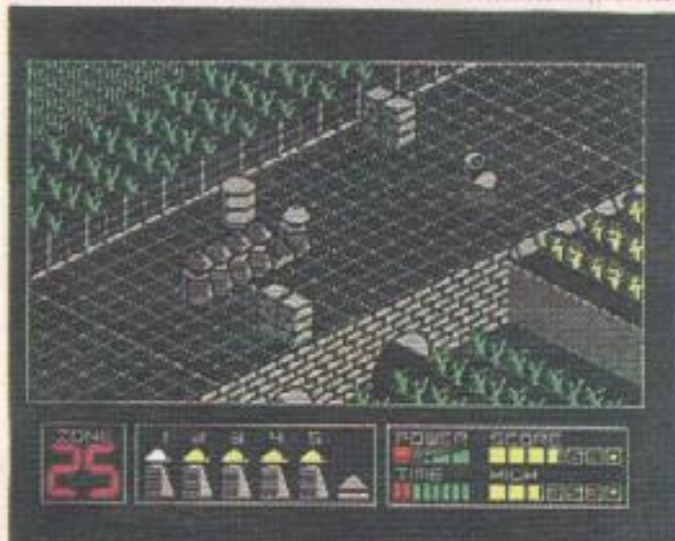

One of the very few character spin-offs with real class, Batman follows the tradition of Fairlight and Movie. A 3D arcade adventure with lots of traditional bat-gear to play with which makes effective use of colour throughout. Compelling stuff even if you'd prefer to let Robin die.

Unusual concept – push a bomb along a straight road packed with aliens – married to next year's graphics by master programmer Costa Panayi. Solve the problems as you zap, but watch out – your extra lives may dwindle as you play.

Knight Lore	5*	£9.95
Ultimate		35

Ultimate's finest hour, a 3D arcade adventure which had the critics lavishing their praise on the Ashby-de-la-Zouch team. Movable objects, visual problems and an array of ferocious monsters set the style which launched a thousand imitations. Few passed muster, but Knight Lore remains a classic of the genre it created.

SIMULATION

THE SIMULATION section covers a wide range of games which simulate elements of real life – such as war and sport – or simulate as closely as possible conditions which the author believes would exist in extraordinary circumstances, such as in outer space. Simulations are mainly published as games but some products, such as flight simulators, can be treated more seriously.

UTILITY

A LARGE number of Spectrum owners like to write programs for their machines in Basic and machine code. Utilities can be merged with those programs to produce better and faster graphics or a greater range of sound. There are also utilities which make machine code programming easier to do.

The Artist	5*	£12.95
Softechnics		42

A excellent graphics package with all the usual facilities plus a few on top. A compressor routine economically stores pictures, and you can also animate them. The powerful overlay command allows you to duplicate designs anywhere on the screen. Menu-driven, powerful, comprehensive.

Animator 1	5*	£14.95
Softcat Software		49
Art Studio	5*	£12.95
OCP		43

With a vast variety of drawing routines and preset textures, this icon-driven graphics program is even more powerful than The Artist when drawing straight screens, and easier to use too. It lacks the Artist's extra facilities, but is still the better choice for designing detailed screens without too much sweat.

After a shaky start as ASP Software the company, backed by the Argus magazine publishing group, has grown.

By acquiring several other houses including Quicksilver, Bug-Byte, and Lothlorian. It has also published a series of strategy games under the Mind Games label, including American Football and Alien. Quicksilver has just released Max Headroom while Lothlorian's latest title is the adventure Time Sanctuary.

One-time golden boys of the software world. Launched in a blaze of publicity with Psytron an excellent arcade/strategy title which in turn was quickly followed by Mike Singleton's classic adventure Lord of Midnight. Recently the momentum has been lost, and the Superman title licenced from First Star in the US (they also did Spy vs Spy for Beyond) has yet to appear. Previews of the game have been dismal and Beyond definitely seems, for the moment, to have lost its way.

Hewson, 56B Milton Trading Estate, Milton, Abingdon

One of these firms that has been around since the dawning of micro time. Andrew Hewson began by writing computer books and even a few programs for the ZX81. Heathrow Air Traffic Control was an early best seller and an enviable run of successes followed: 3D

Seiddab Attack, Fantasia Diamond, Avalon, Technician Ted, AstroClone, Southern Belle and now Quasatron. A strong label.

Level Nine, 229 Hugenden Road, High Wycombe, Buckinghamshire
Arguably this country's top adventure publisher with games such as Lords of Time, Emerald Isle and Return to Eden. Red Moon is its most recent hit. The company has also produced games for Mosaic including Adrian Mole and Erik the Viking. It began producing text-only adventures and now adds graphics. By keeping the graphics simple the adventures are wordy and atmospheric. Level Nine has a strong following with the adventure-playing fraternity.

Mastertronic, (as for Mastervision)

Undisputed king of the budget software houses. The company started with a range of £1.99 games which included Clumsy Collin, Action Biker which was released with the blessing of KP, the nut manufacturer. Other hits followed, Finders Keepers, Formula 1 Simulator, BMX Racers and One Man and his Droid.

Since then the company has launched its Mad range, which retails at £2.99. One of the first releases on that label was Spellbound a game which still attracts a lot of interest particularly for those keen on collecting pokes. Many of Mastertronics budget titles are now challenging full-price games for originality and programming skill.

The company's latest Mad game is the first original graphic adventure for the 128 called Knight-Tyme.

McGraw Hill, Shopping Hangers Road, Maidenhead, Berkshire

Melbourne House, Castle Yard House, Castle Yard, Richmond TW10

It began as a computer book company and by producing software for the TRS 80 and first came to public attention with the acclaimed graphic adventure The Hobbit, released way back in 1982. It was packaged with JR Tolkien's book and became an instant bestseller. The company releases few titles, often of very high quality. The Hobbit follow-up, Sherlock, was extraordinarily complex. Recently, the first part of its Lord of the Rings trilogy was released – to a muted reception. It produced the number one selling title for 1985 in Way of the Exploding Fist, the first of a whole genre of martial arts titles. Rock and Wrestle for the Spectrum has been delayed after disappointing reviews for the C64 version.

One of the very earliest established software houses took off with the creation of Wally Week the bumbling hero of most of its big-sellers. The Wally games include Automania, Herbert's Dummy Run and Everyone's A Wally. Recent launches include Battle of the Planets and Shadow of the Unicorn which includes a ROM interface with room for a Kempston-compatible joystick.

Ocean Software, 6 Central Street, Manchester M2 5NS

Easily the UK's largest software conglomerate. Believes in the splatter technique of software releases – a lot of titles, are of very top quality, but some duff programs too. Specialises in Film and TV tie-ins which have included Frankie goes to Hollywood, Transformers, Street Hawk, Knight Rider and V. Ocean has received a lot of bad publicity for advertising products before they are ready. Street Hawk was advertised at various times during last year but the game has yet to appear. Ocean acquired the Imagine software label last year and has produced a series of Konami arcade game conversions, including Yie Ar Kung Fu, Ping Pong, and Movie. Daley Thompson's Decathlon remains its most famous title (On the Ocean label).

Ultimate Play the Game, (See US Gold)

A company which plays its up-and-coming releases close to the chest. In its first eighteen months it took the software world by storm with each release advancing Spectrum software standards. It peaked with the incredible 3D Knightlore and though since then it has produced a series of 3D games including Nightshade and Gunfight. The company seems to have lost its fighting edge. Recently became part of the same software empire as US Gold.

HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

THE COMPLETE Guide to Sinclair Software has been written to enable you to get information about products as quickly as possible. The format for each entry in the software directory is:

Name	Star rating	Price
Publisher		Issue

Name The title of each product is displayed in bold so that you can find it easily.

Star Rating When a game is reviewed in Sinclair User it is given a rating from one to five which depends upon quality and value for money.

- 1* A total rip-off. Complain loudly.
- 2* Very poor, probably overpriced too.
- 3* Pretty average, buy if desperate.
- 4* Well worth the folding stuff.
- 5* Solid gold. Buy it.

If an entry is tinted with red it has a Classic rating which is given only to software which is exceptionally excellent. To give you a better idea of why we have selected games as Classics we have included screen shots of many of them under which are short descriptions.

Price The lower priced games are known as budget software and despite being inexpensive are often of high quality. Read the star ratings carefully, they are based on value.

Issue The issue number of Sinclair User in which a full review of the program is given.

Software is classified under main and sub-headings. If you want to find a good graphics adventure first look for the main heading Adventure and then for the sub-heading text. It's as easy as that. If you are looking for information about a specific game all you have to know is the type of game it is. Again, the headings and sub-headings will help.

All the information within the directory was to the best of our knowledge correct at the time of going to press and the prices given for software are the recommended retail prices set by software distributors.
