17th January 1983.

Dear Customer,

MICROL DATABASE

On Friday 14th January we received a consignment of Database tapes. These were immediately despatched, together with the manuals which we already had in stock.

We subsequently found out that the Database tapes have been upgraded and that an amendment notice should have been attached to the inside front cover of the manual.

We are therefore enclosing your amendment to the Database manual and we would be grateful if you would attach it by a suitable means.

Please accept our apologies for any inconvenience caused.

Yours faithfully,

Tempus.
